Cocalico High School
Denver, Pennsylvania

The memories you will find on the following pages are those which you will treasure long after high school. Years from now . . .

when Dustin Hoffman is no longer known as "Tootsie," when no one knows what smurfs are,
when "valley girl talk" is a foreign language, when your biggest worry is no longer your fear of failing the big test you haven't studied for . . .

you'll want to remember the good times you've had here at Cocalico. Flipping through the following pages will help you to recall those memories.

Through the years Cocalico's mascot, the eagle, has served as our school's symbol of courage, determination, strength, school spirit and victory. In our future years we can remember the spirit of the eagle. We can work with courage to achieve our goals and yet retain the strength and determination to recover from our defeats in order to soar like an eagle as we search for new victories.

This yearbook could not have been made possible without the dedication and involvement contributed by many people. Mr. Brensinger, our yearbook advisor, deserves special thanks for the time and energy he devotes to yearbook activities. Mr. Amos Martin, our yearbook photographer, also deserves special recognition and thanks for his time, energy and availability to produce the excellent photographs found in this yearbook. Co-editors Janet Oliphant and Gina Miller also deserve much thanks for their layouts and new ideas. Patti Kauffman and Donna Kilhefner are also worthy of special thanks as dedicated typists and business managers. Lori Wise served our staff faithfully as both typist and layout person.

I'm sorry space does not allow room for recognition of all staff members individually, but I would like to extend thanks to all those people who contributed their talents in order to make this yearbook a success. I hope this yearbook provides an enjoyable way for everyone to remember their years at Cocalico High School.

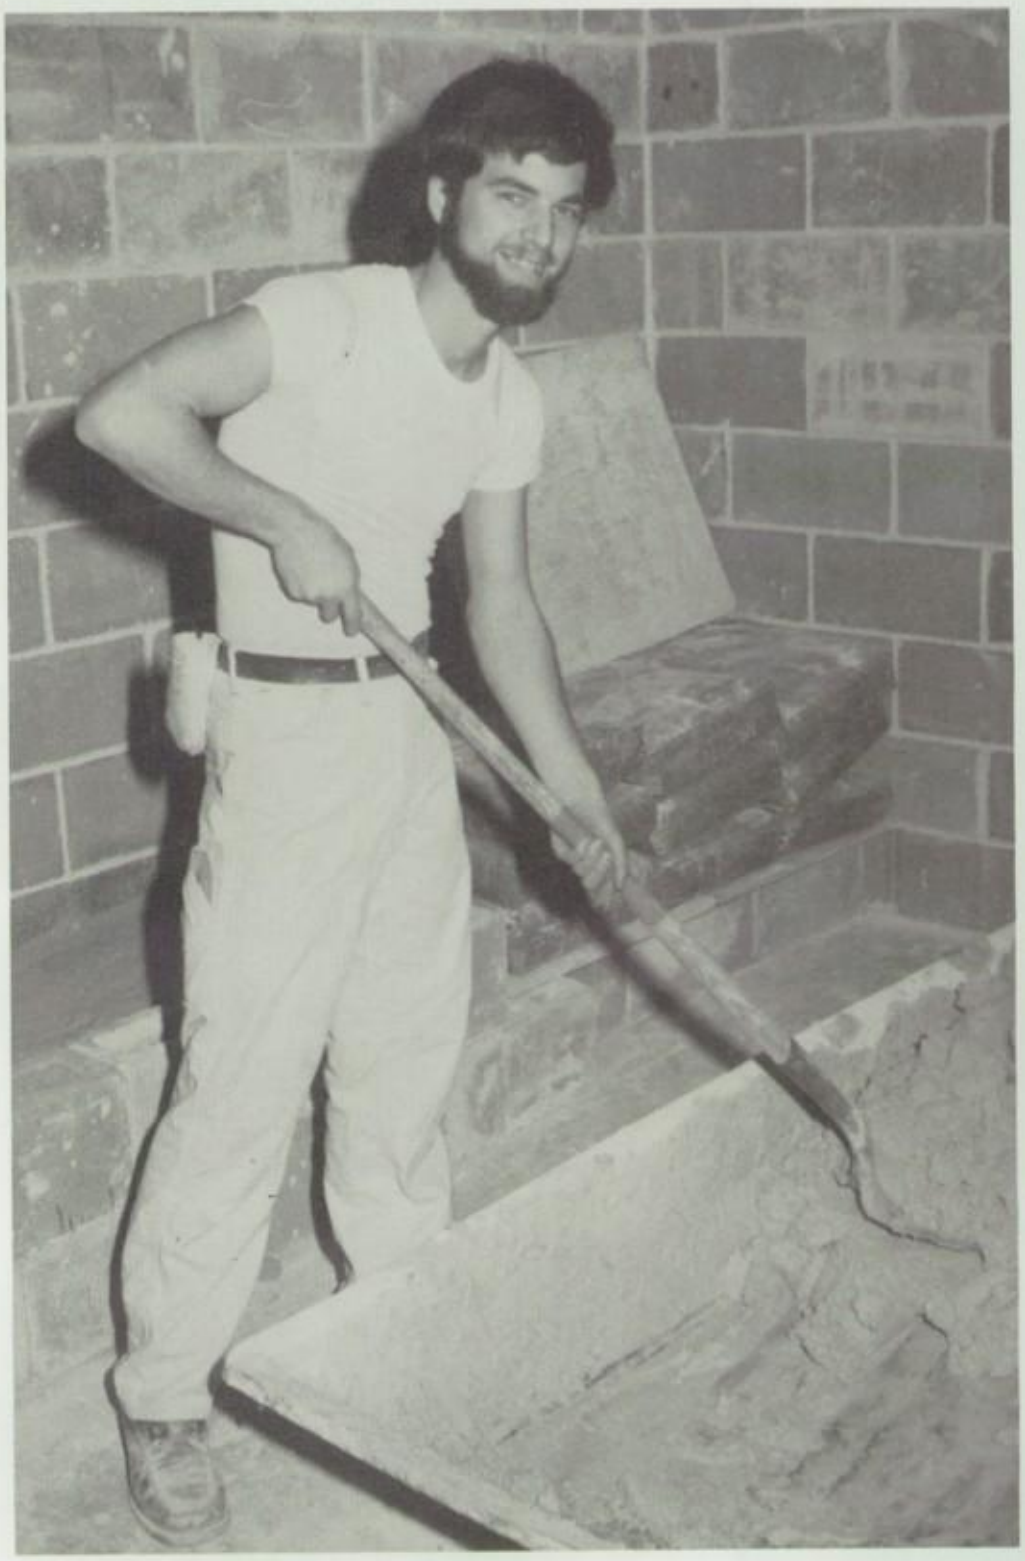
SENIORS



Seniors Face Final Year

The officers for this year's Senior Class are pictured at the right. They are Todd Moyer, treasurer; Becky Witmer, vice-president; Lori Weik, secretary; and Scott Brubaker, president. This year's Senior Class planned a tour of New York City for their class trip. Many of the seniors have plans to attend college, business schools and technical school, enlist in some branch of the military, or begin working in industry or other forms of employment.

TAMMY SUE ADAIR

Tammy, a very friendly person, has been active in bandfront throughout her high school years. After band practice, Tammy enjoys being with her friends and listening to Air Supply on Y102.

VIRGINIA L. ADAMS

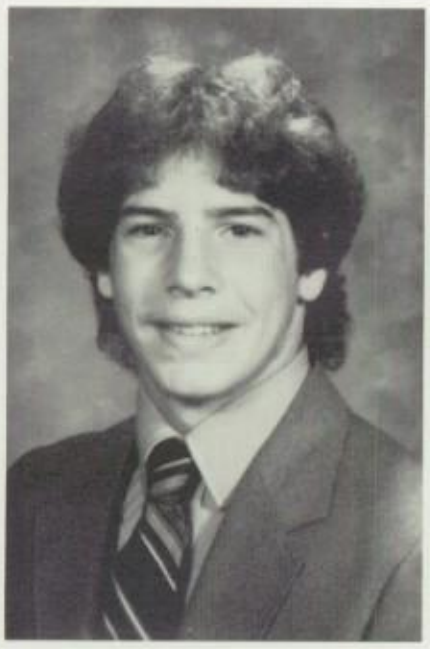
Ginny enjoys driving around and hanging around with her friends at Zinn's Park. Her future plans are to become a legal secretary. Ginny lists her greatest achievement as making it through Mr. Becker's accounting class.

DEDRA LEE BARR

This quiet senior enjoys spending her free time baking and watching television. Dedra dislikes big kids picking on smaller kids. Her future plans include a career in the secretarial field. Her advice to the underclassmen is to "Hang in there."

DEAN R. BATES

This excellent dancer, who also enjoys hunting and playing sports, can usually be found on a baseball diamond. Dean would someday like to be seen driving a Camaro Z28 and playing professional baseball for the Atlanta Braves.

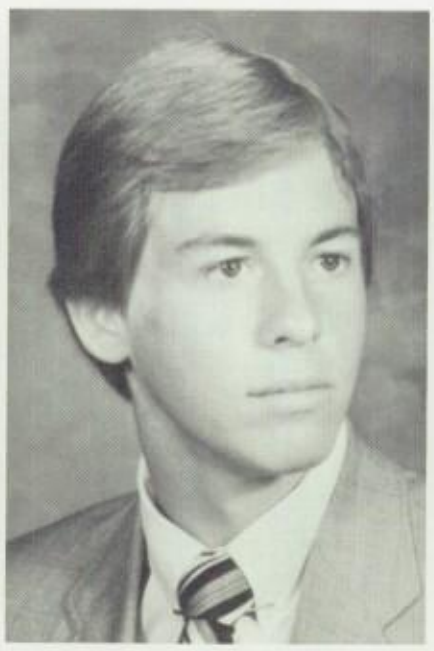


BRENT A. BECKER

This Flyers fan spends most of his spare time playing sports or watching TV. Brent lists his most amusing high school experience as Mr. Althouse's business class. Brent's career goal is to earn $1000 a week, and his secret ambition is to become a millionaire.

MICHELLE LEE BITNER

Michelle, often seen driving around in her Ford Mustang with her friends, is planning a career in nursing. She hopes someday to become rich. Good luck in the future and follow your dreams is Michelle's two-fold message to the rest of her class.

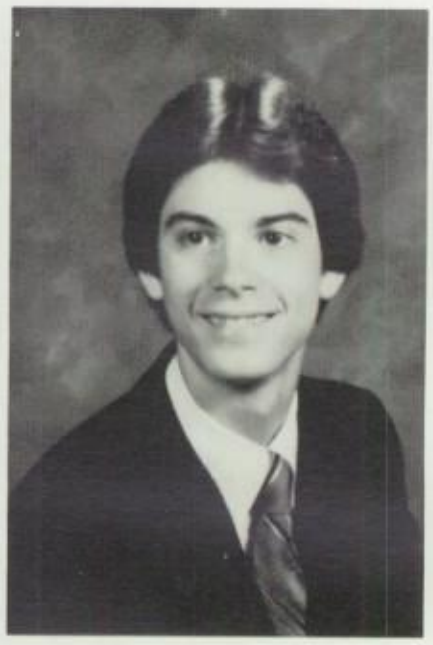


SCOTT LYNN BOYER

Scott, an Asia fan, hopes to become an architect and, eventually, a millionaire. Scott, who likes listening to his stereo, is glad the Cardinals, his favorite team, won the World Series. He also enjoys the humor of Bill Murray.

TILLO LOUISE BRENDLE

This Brownstown student can often be found hanging out in Greble, Lebanon County, and listening to Alabama or the Cars. She detests two-faced people. Tillo's career goal is to be an operating room technician, but her secret ambition is to be an archeologist and explore Egyptian pyramids.



SCOTT V. BRUBAKER

Scott, also known as "Scotty Karate," likes to spend his spare time talking with girls and practicing karate. He lists his greatest achievement as being elected Senior Class president. Scott's Pet Peeve is people who thrive on gossip. He hopes one day to run a successful business.

DENISE E. BUCHEL

Buchel, a "total" cheerleader, lists her favorite movie as Hollywood Nights. Denise's secret ambition is to live in New York. She lists her most amusing school experience as the day someone set off smoke bombs in the school. Denise's message for underclassmen is "Hang in there!"

ELIZABETH ANN BUCK

When not involved with her rigorous schedule preparing for a career in dance, Beth follows other cultural pursuits. She lists Zefferelli's Romeo and Juliet, Gibran and Todd Rungren among her favorites. As a cheerleader, Beth won both the NCA Camp and Exeter Tournament awards.

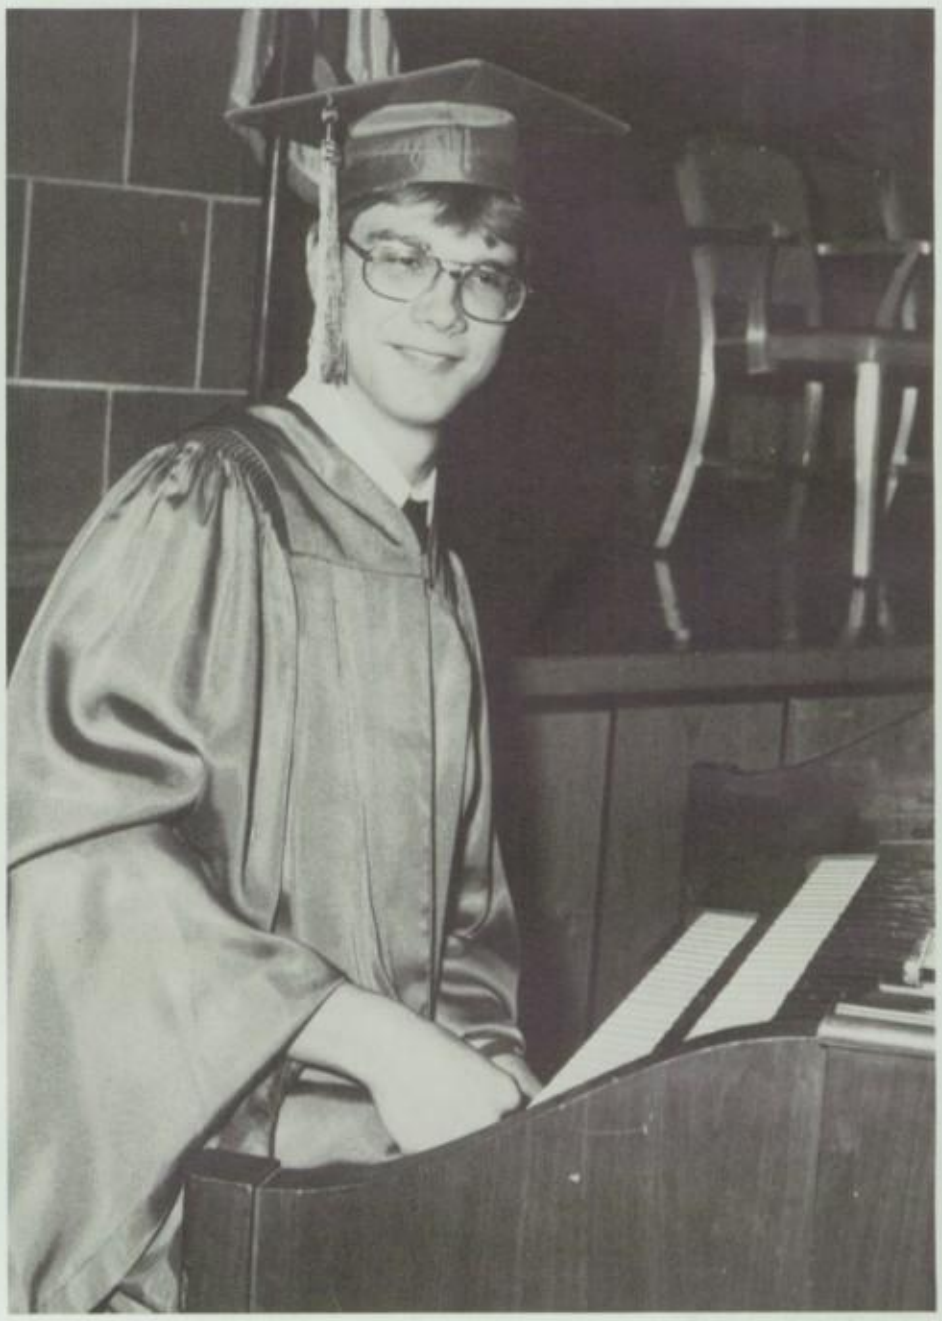
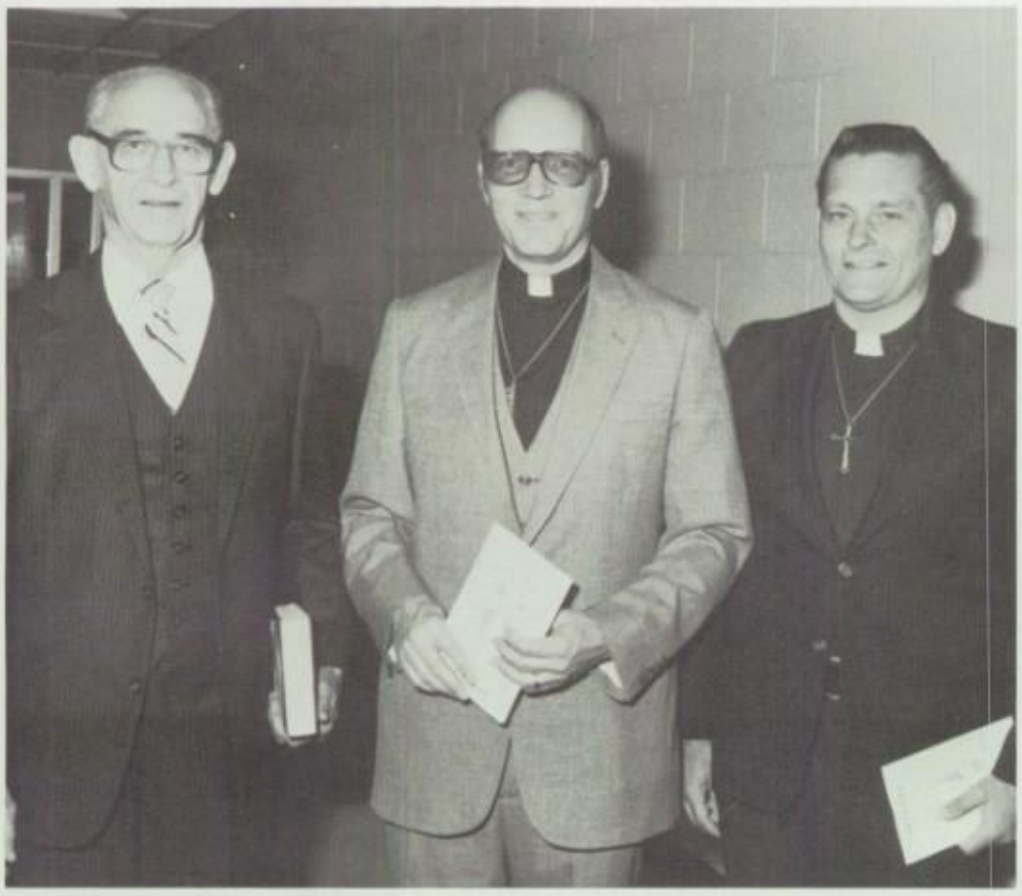
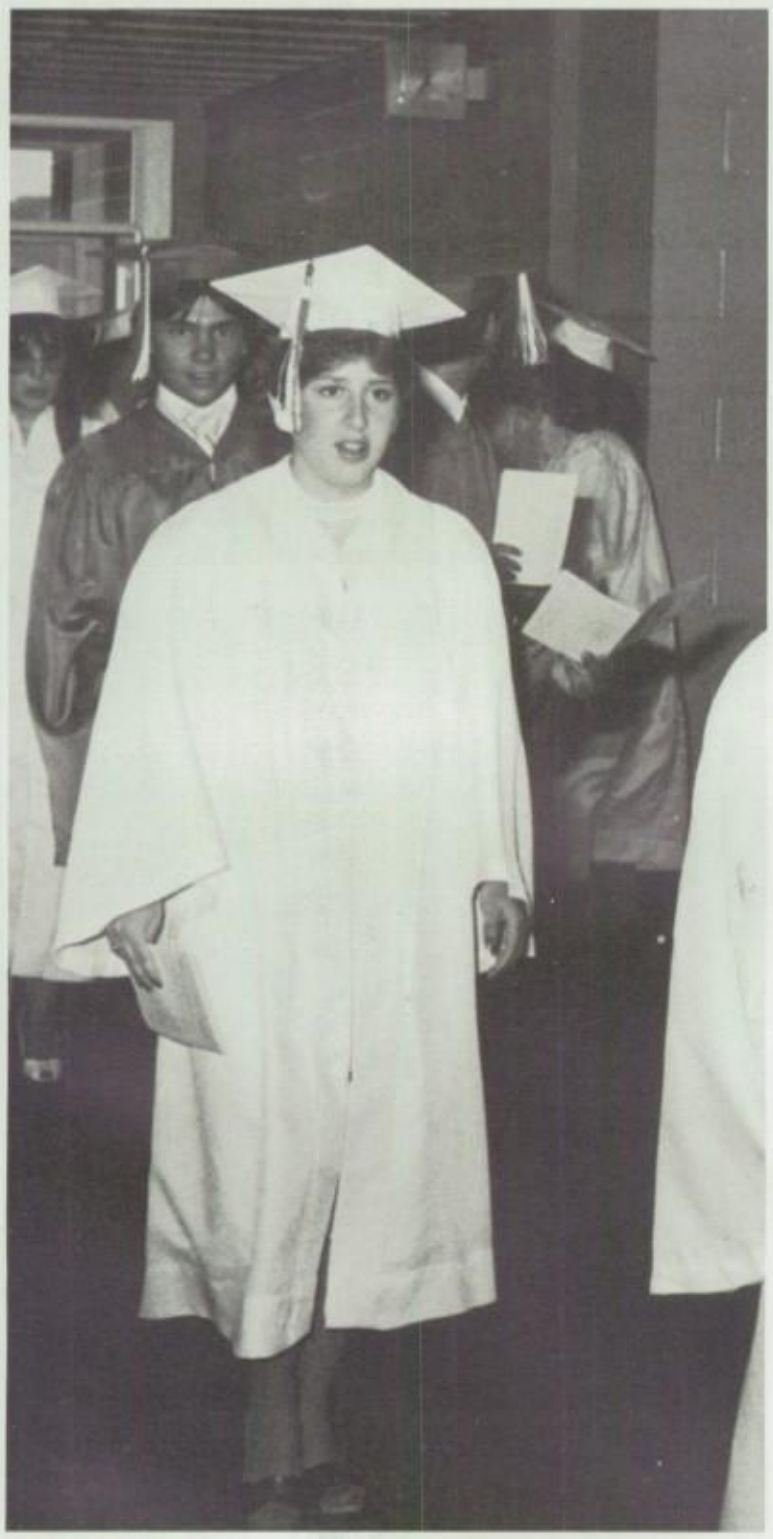
BACCALAUREATE PROMOTES SELF-ESTEEM

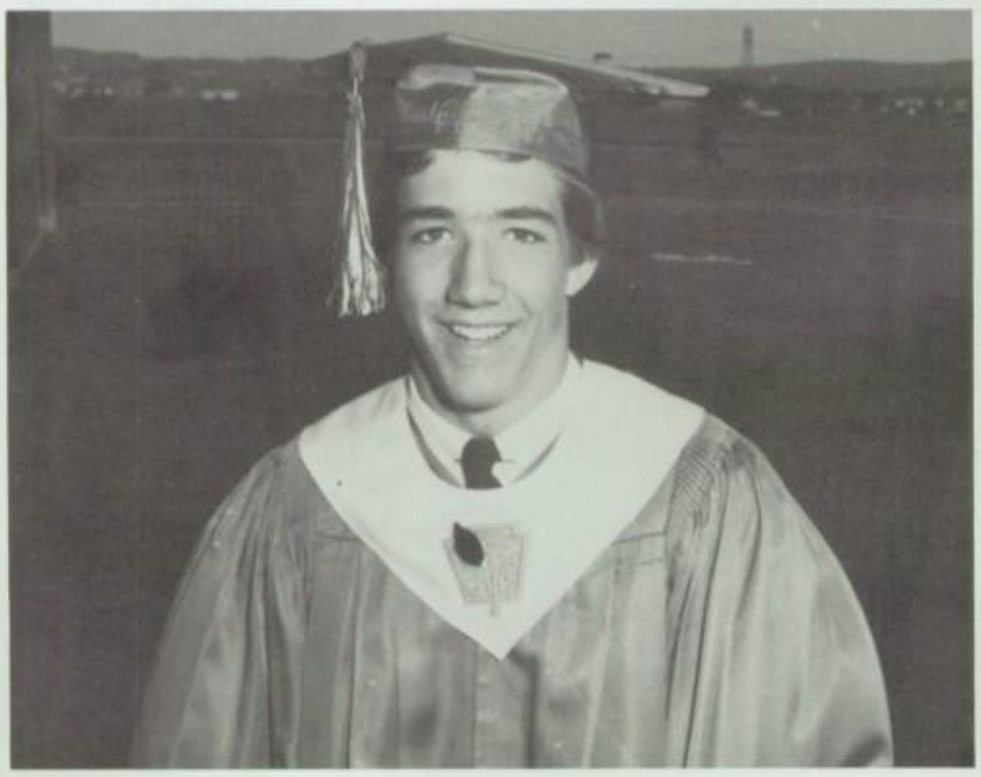






The Baccalaureate service, held on June 8, 1983, featured a combination of music and spiritual messages. Tom Koch performed the prelude and the postlude. Reverend Daniel Reiger from Emmanuel Mennonite Church read the invocation and scripture lesson. "The Real Thing," a brief sermon, was delivered by Reverend John Oliphant. Reverend George Martz had the prayer and benediction. "Amazing Grace," "How Great Thou Art" and "A Mighty Fortress is Our God" were the hymns. The senior ensemble performed the special number, "Pass It On."

156 RECEIVE DIPLOMAS



The 1983 Commencement program, held on June 9, began with an invocation by the Rev. Melvin Stehr and greetings from President Scott Brubaker. Speeches were given by Mike Showalter, Andi Youndt, Jan Weaver, and Sharon Trick. After the speeches the Senior Ensemble performed two songs, accompanied on piano by Tom Koch.

The last part of the program consisted of the recognition of major award winners and recommendation of the class for diplomas by Assistant Principal Joseph Geesey. For the first time, a student, Todd Moyer, announced the names as Richard Sensenig, school board president, presented the diplomas.

The top graduates in this year's class were Sharon Trick and Ronald Tilley.

SOPHOMORES LOOK TO THE FUTURE

The Class of '85 has lots of characters. Maybe that comes from being the guinea pigs for new textbooks and teaching methods. Among the luxuries of being a sophomore are school rings, class jackets, and finally the chance to look down on someone – namely the freshmen. However, most sophomores resent the fact that being a sophomore also included often being overlooked, suffering through the drudgery of CTBS testing, and groping their way through truckloads of homework. No wonder sophomores long to be juniors. The class officers (pictured at right) are Lori Ansel, president; Pat Boyer, vice-president; and Harold Henry, secretary-treasurer.

FRESHMEN EXPRESS OPINIONS ABOUT SCHOOL

Eye of the Freshman

E.T., Sony Walkman, Garfield, and Valley talk have strongly influenced this year's Freshman Class. Their views have been molded and shaped to produce young men and women who will later become our future leaders.

However, until these creative people become our future lawyers, doctors, and politicians, they have this to say about their freshman year: My freshman year . . . has been the best year yet. People have so many opportunities to get involved in school activities, and school is fun when you get involved . . . was wild and crazy . . . was terrific. I met a lot of interesting people and learned a lot of new things . . . wasn't bad at all. Some of the classes were a little boring, especially when you're being lectured. But when the bell rings and you're happy to get out of class, then you realize that the next period is lunch and you don't know which is better fourth period or lunch . . . was a lot different than I expected. The teachers were especilaly nice, and there was a wide variety of courses to choose from . . . was better than middle school by a long shot. It's a great school.

All these are summed up in the words of one freshman, "It was totally awesome!" This year's class officers were Shawn Haws, vice-president; Tom Barnhart, president; Kim Ashcroft, secretary-treasurer.

The officers are President – Ronald Tilley, Vice-President – Curt Firestine; Secretary – Sharon Trick; Treasurer – Brent Long.

FBLA PLACES NINE IN REGIONALS

At Spring Regionals nine members out of the 17 that competed placed. They are Stenographer I: Gina Miller, 1st; Stenographer II: Ginny Adams, 1st; Accounting I: Lori Wise, 5th; Becky Eberly, 4th; Barb Wenrich, 3rd; Business Communications: Patti Kauffman, 2nd; Office Procedures: Lori Weik, 4th; Miss FBLA: Kathy Weaver, 3rd.

NEW DIRECTOR CONDUCTS BAND

From the first exciting moments of "Firebird," to the spine-tingling drive in "Still," the upbeat music of this year's show brought audiences to their feet and the band through yet another successful season. The difficulties of adjusting to a new director, coupled with intense preparation for competitions, gave them the determination they needed to perform to the best of their ability. Their great performances led to a first place at Norristown, an outstanding bandfront award in the New Holland parade, as well as first place in the Jack Frost parade.

BOYER REIGNS AS SIR VALENTINE

One of this year's more successful projects was the Student Council's Valentine's Dance. The record hop was well attended and students contributed to the Heart Fund by paying a quarter per vote to elect a Sir Valentine. Scott Boyer was elected Sir Valentine. Runners-up were Troy Good and Tony DiMatteo.

JUNIORS PRESENT CUSTARD CAPER FARCE

This year's Junior Class play was held March 3 and 5 at 7:00 p.m. in the high school auditorium. The play was a farce and consisted of a great deal of audience participation.

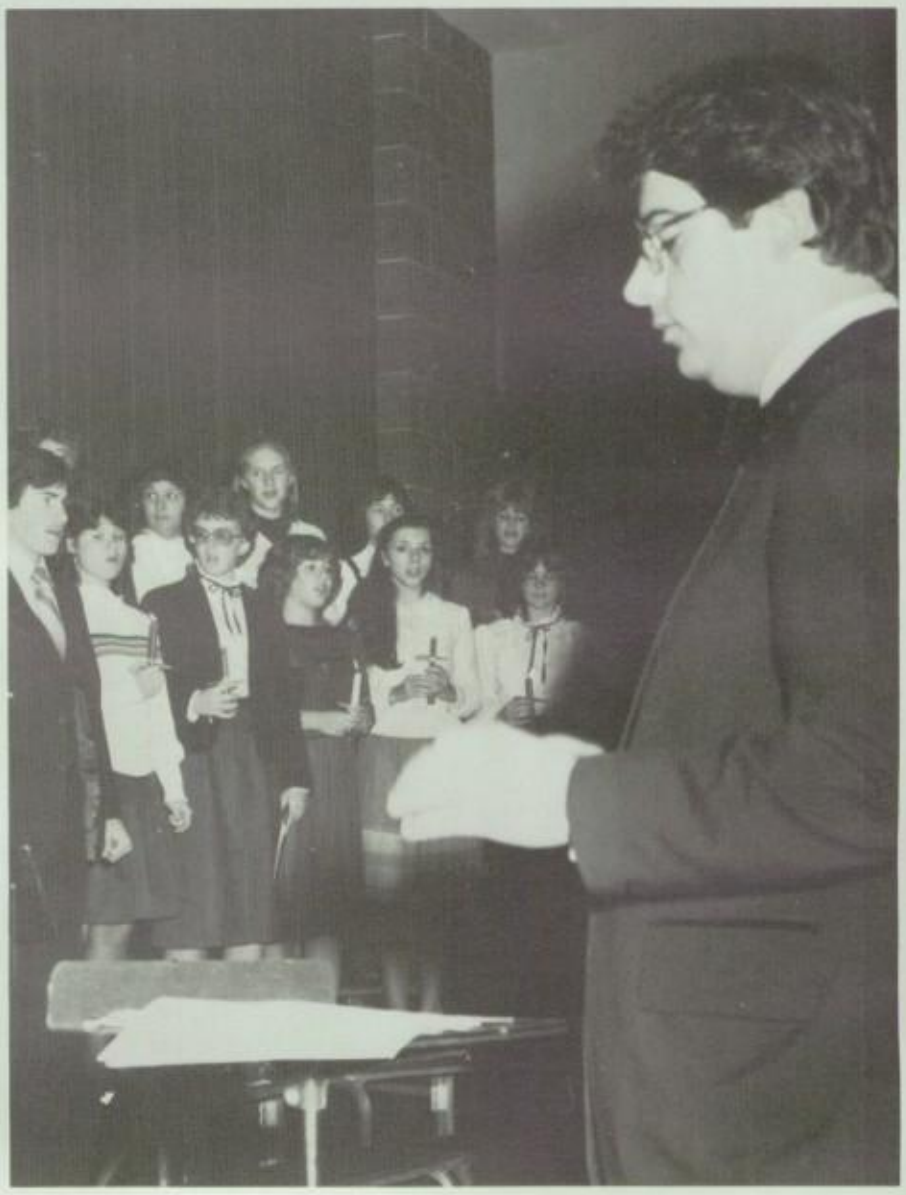
CHORUS FEATURED IN TWO CONCERTS



COUNTY CHORUS – Front: Joan Gress, Martin Hinkley. Back: David Duty, Missy Miller. Missing From Picture: Troy Pannebecker.

DISTRICT CHORUS – Martin Hinkley, David Duty, Missy Miller. Missing From Picture: Troy Pannebecker.

This year's chorus presented two well performed concerts: a Christmas concert and a spring concert. Each performance included popular as well as traditional selections. Some of the selections were "Sing with Praise," "Evita," "Can You Read My Mind?" and a trilogy of Christopher Cross songs.

PUBLICATIONS DEMAND HEAVY WORK LOAD

Among the clubs which are basically for fun and relaxation are the two organizations responsible for the two school publications. The newspaper staff meets on Tuesdays, and the yearbook staff meets on Tuesdays and Wednesdays.

Due to mechanical difficulties in the printing area, few issues of the newspaper were printed this year. Some of the stories included a story on the prison field trip and something fairly new – student opinions on controversial issues such as capital punishment.

The yearbook staff devoted many hours to developing the 1983 edition of The Talon. Just a few of the steps the yearbook goes through are preparing copy, which is forwarded to Dallas, Texas, and assisting with the taking of pictures. In Dallas, the pictures and copy are made into plates, wich are sent to surburban Philadelphia, where the actual printing is done. Printing the yearbook costs in excess of $9,000.

SONGS, DANCE GRACE CHRISTMAS CONCERT

This year's Christmas concert included traditional selections, performed by chorus, ensemble and band, as well as modern seasonal music from stage band.

In two special features of the program a moving rendition of Ave Maria was sung by Missy Miller and a graceful, religious dance was performed by Beth Buck.

CLUB PROGRAM OFFERS VARIED CHOICES

From APBA to yearbook, Cocalico has a wide variety of clubs to choose from. Many clubs are designed to give the student a better knowledge in a particular field; others are just plain fun. Clubs are offered five days a week so that every student has a chance to join various activities during his/her lunch period.

On a survey conducted by the yearbook staff, students responded about their clubs as follows: I think clubs are fun because they give us a break from classes and a chance to get involved in things we are interested in . . . I really enjoyed being in computer club; it gives you a chance to experiment with the computer, and you don't have anyone hanging over your shoulder telling you what to do. It's a nice way to spend lunch . . . Dungeons and Dragons is an excellent club to join if you enjoy adventure. This game takes a lot of time but is very rewarding . . . Music Club sounds easy but it is hard work. After finally accomplishing the song you have worked on for so long, you think it was all worth it . . . Chess Club is a great way to improve your game by playing against people who are on a higher level than you . . . Art club is a place to express your artistic ability. This club is enjoyable if you are into working on art projects.

These are only a few of the clubs a student can choose from. No matter what interest one has, a club that satisfies his curiosity is available.

TEACHERS WIN DONKEY BALL GAME

Ring around the donkey anyone?

Why me???

The Cocalico Education Association sponsored a donkey basketball game which was held in the Denver Elementary School. Four teams participated in the event. The Girls' Hockey Team and Boys' Football Team played the first game with the girls winning. The second game was between two teams of teachers. Teachers' Team A was victorious.

During the intermission (or should we say "donkey break") the hockey team played musical donkeys. Audrey Reich was Miss Jack – for winning the contest.

The final game of the night was between Teachers' Team A and Girls' Hockey. The teachers really cleaned up in this one. The game was a fund-raiser for the CEA scholarship.

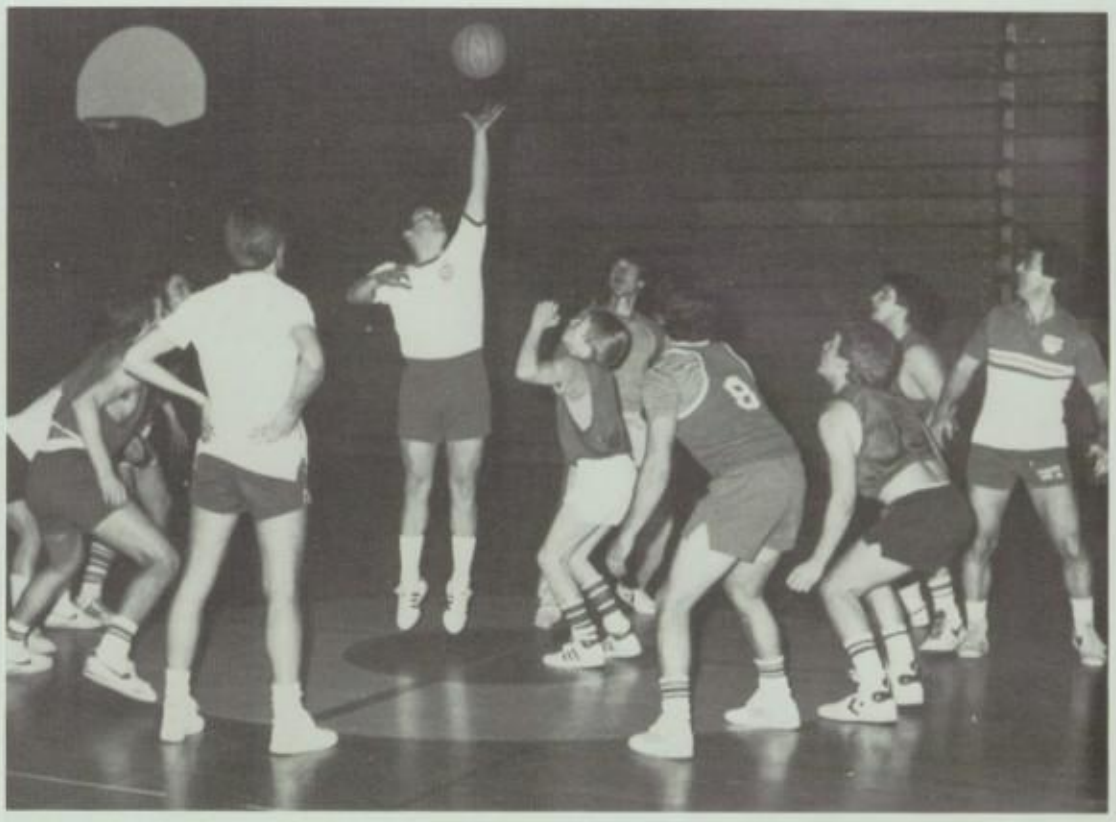
SENIORS TOUR MANHATTAN

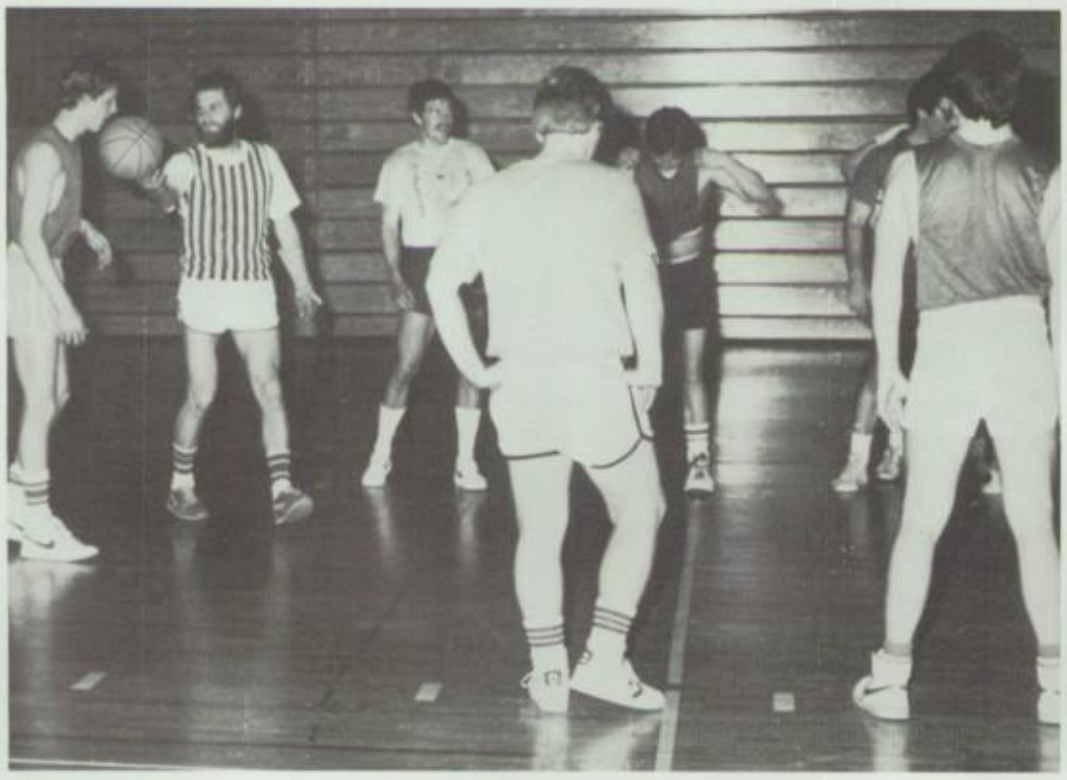
After arriving in New York via a windy trip on the Staten Island Ferry, where camera buffs got pictures of the Statue of Liberty, one busload of seniors disembarked at the World Trade Center and were wisked to the top of the 102-story building. Enroute to dinner at Mamma Leone's, everyone was given a chance to do souvenir hunting on Mott Street in Chinatown. Following a five-course meal, the seniors and chaperones walked to Radio City to see a preview performance of Porgy and Bess. During their free time some of the group got to see both Rockefeller Center and St. Patrick's Cathedral. The weary group boarded the bus after the show and departed from New York through the Lincoln Tunnel.

CLASS OF 83 RELAXES AT FERNWOOD

Two bus loads and a van full of seniors went to Fernwood in the Poconos. When they arrived, they were assigned rooms and given an agenda for the day. They played volleyball and went roller skating, while others tried their luck in the arcade. In the afternoon they were given the opportunity to go horseback riding, swim, golf and play volleyball or tennis. Later everyone dressed for dinner. After the meal, they all went to a big dance and danced until it was time to depart for Denver.

STUDENTS MEET FACULTY IN ATHLETIC CONTESTS





TROPICAL HIDEAWAY PROVIDES PROM THEME

The 1983 prom was held Saturday, May 7, from 8 to 11 p.m. in the picturesquely decorated high school cafeteria. The prom featured "A Tropical Hideaway" theme while "The Trees" provided music. The 1983 prom king and queen were Steve Weinhold and Eileen McPeake. Beth Buck and Tony DiMatteo were first runners-up while Jill Mawhinney and Carey Christ were second runners-up.

This year's all-school production featured an assortment of characters looking for fantasies. Because Leona, a co-producer of the fantasies, is kidnapped, Jim, her brother, carries on alone; however, without the help of his sister, Jim's well-intended plans go awry. Each of the fantasies is fulfilled — but for the wrong people. By the conclusion of the second act, Leona returns, and the clients are appropriately rewarded.

How disgusting.

REMEMBER WHEN

In order to build interest in the final section of the 1983 Talon, we are including a variety of pictures from the early, early years of this year's graduates, as well as the last will and testament of those who offered something to those they are leaving behind and a few parting pictures to help you remember the way you were in 1982-83. If you have trouble with some of the names, turn to the senior section for help.

Now, pull up an easy chair, sit back, and remember when . . .

We "sent out" for pizza.
Everyone was a Halloween character.
Everything got painted "PINK"!
Everyone listened to the popular tunes of the day on a Sony Walkman.
No one could have ice cream for a week (but some of us did).
Mr. Geesey told us nothing was free (for which Vince had his own suggestion).
The girls at Wallops Island got "flashed."
Some seniors got their ears pierced for one day.
Mr. Weaver's eighth grade class was told to report back to study hall.
Jenny started her painting? (try).
Mr. Hummel learned to play volleyball on the Senior Class trip to the Poconos.
The seniors headed for New York City got "mooned" on the New Jersey Turnpike.
Mr. Smaltz shocked himself occasionally.
The kazoo band played for the basketball team.
Mrs. Shelly laminated her room.
It rained superballs.
WE WERE SENIORS!!!

LAST WILL AND TESTAMENT

We, the Senior Class of 1983, being of sound mind and body do hereby bequeath the following:

THE LIGHTER SIDE

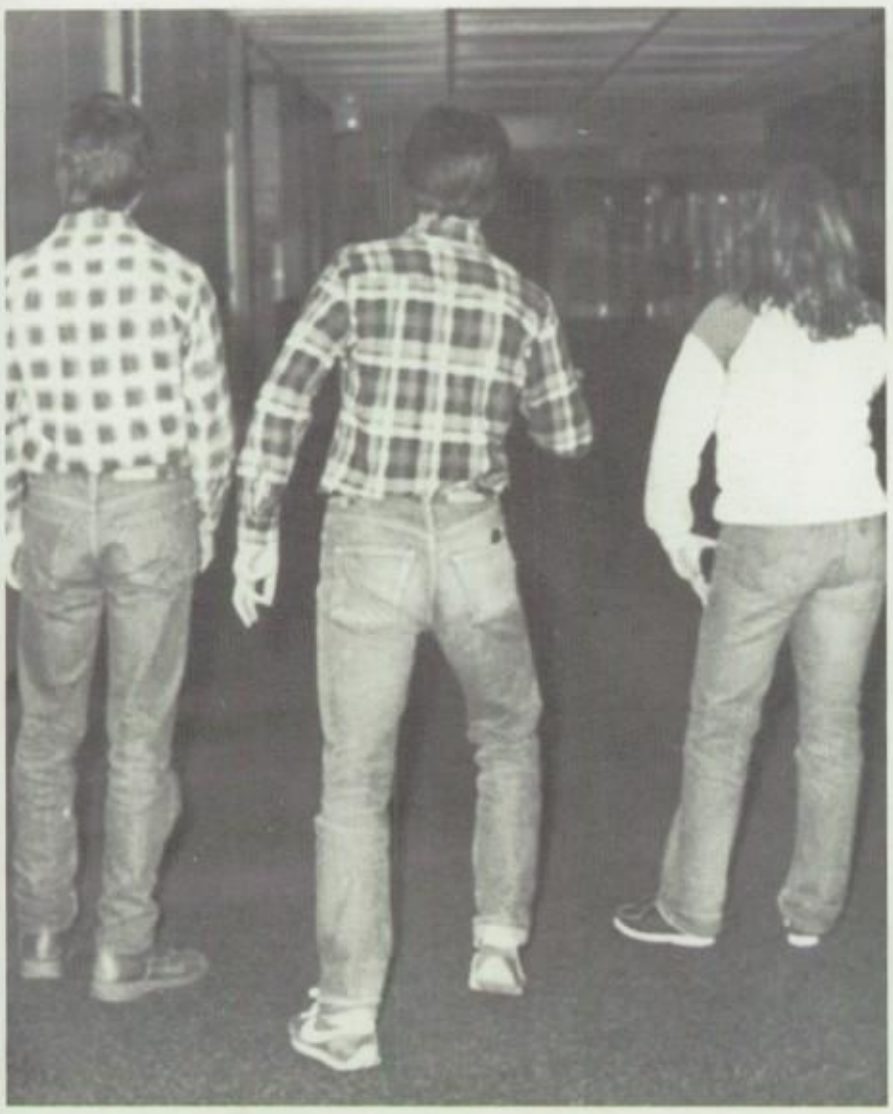
On Guard!

They weren't kidding when they said you'd get caught up in school!

Could you give me a hand?

Perdue chicken legs – only the finest.

OF COCALICO HIGH



Baby makes her blue jeans talk.

Mom, you didn't use Downey!

See ya next year!

I guess it's time to clean my locker.
